GALLERY

The Exchange Gallery is a curated exhibition space available to all regional artists. Gallery exhibitions are selected and scheduled by the Gallery committee and are generally on display for four to six weeks. Opening receptions are arranged in conjunction with other events in downtown Bloomsburg, especially First Fridays, which take place year-'round.

Regular hours: 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Friday, with additional hours and changes as posted on the Web site's calendar.

The Gallery is a project of the non-profit Exchange and is run by a committee of artist volunteers whose interests are to provide a venue through themed, open-call exhibitions and juried or invitational shows that offer exposure to regional artists of all ages and levels of experience. Exhibiting artists must sign an exhibition agreement form that releases The Exchange from liability for any theft, damage, or loss.

Artists and arts organizations interested in putting on their own solo or group exhibitions in the Exchange Gallery should submit an e-mail request that includes information about the exhibition and artist(s) along with a selection of representative artwork as attachments or links to Web sites. The cost to individuals or groups to exhibit in the Exchange Gallery is $250. The Gallery will assist in the installation and publicity of the exhibition, while the artists must cover any shipping or special material costs. Artists and groups will also be asked to help plan and attend the reception for their work.

Inquiries should come to Exchange@ExchangeArts.org or sent via snail mail to the address below. Please include a SASE if you would like your material returned.
